Testers are community members who undergo training to pose as a potential tenant or homebuyer. Testers meet with a rental or sales agent and record the details of their interaction and the information provided on a special report form.

Our Fair Housing Enforcement Team reviews and compares reports from various testers. Testers are assigned housing tests on both random properties and properties suspected of housing discrimination.

When discriminatory treatment is found, we file a complaint with the Ohio Civil Rights Commission or the US Department of Housing and Urban Development. These agencies enforce the Fair Housing laws.

Fair Housing Contact Service needs people from diverse backgrounds to be able to most effectively test for housing discrimination.

Why be a Tester?

Testers are paid for their work and reimbursed for mileage costs.

Testers help ensure that the Fair Housing laws are working.
